THE AMBLESIDE CONFERENCE, 1907.

TUESDAY, 9TH.—The Conference began at 9-30 a.m. on Tuesday, April 9th. There were present—

Misses Allen, Bernau, Blease, Dismore, Mrs. Esslemont, Misses Flower, Fountain, Judd, Laurence, Moule, Owen, Parish, Roffe, Rothera, Russell, E. A. Smith, Stainton, M. Wilkinson, and R. M. Williams.

Miss Mason's note of welcome unfortunately arrived too late to be read on Tuesday. Miss Parish's paper will appear in the P.R., so need not be reported here, as the discussion did not turn chiefly upon her points.

WEDNESDAY, 10TH, 9-30 a.m.—Miss Allen read Miss Mason's greeting. We then proceeded to discuss Art: Picture Talks, Original Illustration. Miss Parish began by saying that she thought the two chief uses of art were: to give the power of self-expression and to help to an appreciation of beauty wherever it may be found. The latter is the more important because we cannot all become "artists" in the sense of "painters." Miss Parish advocated a variety in the manner of taking the "talk." Children might sometimes be allowed each to describe a picture, so as to make the others see and recognise it. The opinion of the Conference was distinctly against "tracing." [Notes also in Miss Clendinnan's letter.]

A lesson in illustration was given on Thursday. From Miss Mason's criticism upon it we learn that there should be very little "lesson." Just a few words to make sure that children know what they are going to paint, a hint or two about scene, grouping of figures, dress, &c. Brushes to be used generally, and not pencil first, though a pencil sketch may be asked for occasionally.

With regard to animal drawing, it was suggested that the teacher should get the children to make a mental picture of the creature to be drawn by a gesture accompanying her
